A LETTER TO FUTURE CHILDREN...

The North East Wales Archives are running a competition for the best 'Letter to Future Children' written by school-age pupils living in Denbighshire and Flintshire.

Write a letter, to be read by children in 100 years' time, to tell them how your life has changed since the Coronavirus crisis sent you home from school!

- What are you doing every day?
- What is it like being at home all the time without seeing your friends and extended family?
- Are you having to go to school, and if so is it strangely quiet?
- How are your family coping with working at home or going out to do essential work?
- How does it feel not going to school?
- Above all, tell the future children what you are missing most and enjoying most.

Please include a drawing, showing how life looks to you at this strange time in history!

All letters will be included in the 'Letter to Future Children Archive' and preserved for future generations to read.

The winner will receive a prize of a £20 Amazon Voucher and have their letter shared online.

With parents' permission, children can email their experiences/pictures, with their first name, year group and school's name to archives@flintshire.gov.uk.

Please check your children's letters before you submit them - this is not a competition run by Westwood Primary School and we can take no responsibility for entries submitted.
